Hi Victor,

One of our outreach workers just went to the area to assess. He noticed that LAPD is still present at location. One patrol car was located on McCoy and others were seen patrolling the area. Our outreach worker spoke to an individual on Lomita who had just been encountered by an officer. The individual reported that the officer asked where the rest of the individuals had relocated to. Our outreach worker drove around the surrounding areas to locate one of his clients and noticed that people have spread out. He spoke to another individual who relocated to Figueroa & Lomita who said that PD told them they were not able to return to Lomita & McCoy until they were told they could do so. It is not clear if PD told folks they'll be arrested or cited if they return.

Hopes this helps!

Hi Alex,

Thanks for letting us know about this concern. Are there any additional details you can share so our partners at LAPD can look into this? Is there an officer posted at the location preventing folks from returning? Have folks been told they'll be arrested or cited if they return?

Any additional info you can provide will be helpful as they look into this issue and attempt to resolve it.

Thanks!

Thank you for the update team.

Heads-up, I was informed that LAPD is not allowing folks back into the area after the clean-up.
